

Introductory comments

The following chapter contains practical examples from bilingual teaching in content subjects, advices for observing bilingual geography lessons (with observation grid) and the evaluation of videoed teaching units. There are various taught units for bilingual classes in Years 9 and 10 in Geography, History, Social Studies and Citizenship on the subjects of 'Migration', 'Urban development in the 19th century' and the 'Treaty of Versailles'. These units have been developed and tested in all partner institutions and in partner schools in Germany, France and Poland.

There are also units listed, which were produced within the framework of the project, but which have not yet been tested.

The project members would be greatly interested in feedback from any teachers who use these units.